TECH SYSTEMS, INC. / INVUS DESIGN (previously MicroBox Inc.), Raleigh, NC, 2004 to Present

DIRECTOR, PROFESSIONAL SERVICES
TECH SYSTEMS, INC., 2006 TO PRESENT

SVP, SALES AND OPERATIONS
MICROBOX INC., 2004 TO 2006

Originally recruited to MicroBox to launch professional services practices. These practices were acquired by Invus Design who was later bought by Tech Systems, Inc. Tapped by Tech Systems to expand and manage their technology solutions group services organization. Build service delivery practices that align with technology sales and develop IT infrastructure solutions that address clients' unique information technology and business challenges. Initiated partnerships with leading IT vendors including Sun, IBM, and HDS. P&L: $22M; Staff: 62; Vendor Management: 75 relationships

BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

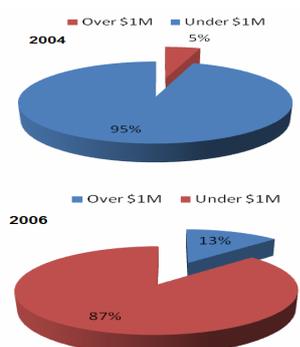

Tech Systems

- Propelled professional services sales from $1M to $10M in just 2 years by developing the business strategy and execution plans to transform a hardware-focused business model into a consultative solutions-oriented company.

MicroBox Inc.

- Surpassed 2-year sales goal by 62% and achieved a 112% increase to $7.2M in sales; transformed a small, privately owned IT services firm with a pure staff augmentation business model into a solutions-oriented firm.
- Transitioned business development focus from small (accounts under $1M) to mid and large cap ($1.5B to $250B accounts) and added a dozen new accounts in less than 2 years.

INFRASTRUCTURE OPTIMIZATION

Tech Systems

- Following Tech Systems' acquisition of a non-profitable business, created the business case and infrastructure reengineering that enabled a $25M acquisition write-off while retaining 75%+ of professional services revenues and trimming headcount by 85% (from 60 to 10).
- Successfully scaled company that had rocketed from zero to $300M in revenue in 8 years by spearheading creation of firm's leadership council. Streamlined processes exponentially and created a forum for sharing company best-practices.
- Garnered discounts that translated into millions of dollars in savings by ensuring sales team maintained highest levels of certifications on vendor products.

MicroBox

- In 15 months, created the data management and storage and infrastructure services (Linux, Grid Computing, and Enterprise Windows) practices. Built the infrastructure to support the transition; hired staff, forged technology partnerships, created sales pipeline, developed marketing collateral, and fostered credibility in the market.
- Boosted operational efficiencies substantially by implementing new systems and technologies to streamline accounting and recruiting functions; developed design and content for a new corporate website.

SJS SYSTEMS, Raleigh, NC, 2000 to 2004

PRACTICE MANAGER, 2003 TO 2004

ENGAGEMENT MANAGER, 2001 TO 2003

Oversaw professional services sales and delivery organization for the southeast communications market area. Carried a $19M goal in support of Bel-Tel, Verizon, and Lucent accounts. Supported entertainment and media accounts including Sony, Time Inc, Time Warner Cable, and McGraw Hill. Led team of 7 sales managers, 6 architects, and 2 administrators.

CONSULTATIVE SALES

- Gained buy-in to transition from a hardware sales organization to a more strategic and lucrative solutions-based consulting model. Repositioned brand to encompass new services and successfully sell into Fortune 100 companies. Initiated numerous partnerships with hardware/software vendors, consulting firms, and resellers.
- Accelerated revenues from $1M to $8M annually and exceeded revenue goals by 200% annually; formally recognized for achieving the highest services sales revenue in the Americas for a single account.

Education

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN COMPUTER SCIENCE, DUKE UNIVERSITY, Durham, NC, 1986

This client had a chronology that was confusing to the reader in his original document. He worked for a company that was acquired by another company and then a different company bought the new entity. All this change made it look like my client was a job hopper when that was not the case. I streamlined the chronology and broke his accomplishments out by separate company to more accurately represent his employment history. In addition, I used charts and text boxes to communicate my client's impact, show scope, and prove a rapid career progression.
